PUSHING REPAIRS ON STATE HIGHWAYS IN THIS COUNTY

Main Artery From Southern Boundary Line to Saugerties Being Widened Four Feet to Take Care of Bridge Traffic—Quarry Producing 135 Tons a Day With 25 Men.

The state highway department is doing a large amount of work in Ulster county in repairing state highways, but by far the most important work is that of widening the main highway south of the Rondout Creek Bridge to the Orange county line, which will be followed by the widening of the Kingston-Saugerties road. Four feet will be added to the width of each of these highways. The state highway is doing this work in order to accommodate the increased traffic resulting from the construction of the Rondout Creek Bridge and in contemplation of further increase of traffic as soon as the Storm King road is completed and opened.

The state highway work in the county is being carried on in practically every direction under the supervision of Charles B. Seib, engineer in charge of maintenance of all state highways in Ulster county.

Bridge Approach Like Park.

The Esopus approaches to the Rondout Creek Bridge are being graded by the state highway department employees preparatory to seeding the ground for grass. It is intended that the approaches to the bridge shall contain fine looking lawns and the general appearance will be that of a park approach.

The River Road South.

The work of widening the highway south of the Rondout Creek Bridge to the Orange county line is now in progress and will still require some time before it is completed. Two feet are being added to the highway on each side. The additional four feet in the width of the road is expected to take care of the maximum amount of traffic over any road, because the completion of the Storm King highway, with the already completed Rondout Creek Bridge is realized by the state highway department to mean that a tremendous volume of travel will be thrown over Ulster county highways, particularly over routes leading to the Catskill Mountains and Shawangunk Mountains.

North of Highland the highway is receiving repairs that have been badly needed, and when they are completed a bituminous top will be put on, which will be entirely completed by the first of August.

Kingston-Saugerties Road.

The same reason which impelled the state highway department to begin widening the river road from the Rondout Creek Bridge south to the Orange county line also caused the department to prepare plans for widening the state highway between Kingston and Saugerties. It is realized that the tourist traffic bound for the Catskill Mountains will enter the region through the natural gateway to the Catskill-Shawangunk region by way of the city of Kingston. From Kingston there is a choice of two ways of getting into the mountains, either by way of Ashokan, or going by way of Saugerties and thence through the beautiful Palenville Clove to Haines Falls. So in order to accommodate this traffic, the Kingston-Saugerties road needs to be widened.

Road to Delaware County.

From Kingston to the Ashokan Boulevard the state highway is in excellent condition. Then begins the magnificent Ashokan Boulevard, which is conceded to be one of the most magnificent highways in America.

For the intervening stretch the present condition demands reconstruction for some distance. For a distance of three miles east from Pine Hill the highway is to be reconstructed with Federal Aid. Under this system, the state of New York pays one-half the cost and the Federal government pays the other half. The work is done under the supervision of the state highway department.

Another stretch of two miles, still further east, will be given a bituminous top dressing by the state highway department forces.

Ellenville Road is Good.

On the Kingston-Ellenville route only general maintenance is going on because the work done on that road a year ago, supplemented by the general repairs made early this season, have placed this highway in the best condition it has been in for a number of years.

Perrine's Bridge-New Paltz.

Work is now progressing on the route to Orange county through New Paltz, and every effort is being made to finish as promptly as possible the stretch between Perrine's Bridge and New Paltz, which last year more nearly resembled a cow-path than a highway of any description.

The Modena Road.

The Modena road, south, is now receiving surface treatment which will be finished in a short time, when that road will take its place along with the other good roads of the county.

To Complete Flatbush Road.

The Flatbush road, which has been in poor condition for the past two years, is receiving a large amount of work by the state highway department forces who expect soon to have it in first class condition.

Other Roads Good.

On all the other general highway routes of the county the conditions are good, and only general maintenance work needed to maintain them in good condition is being carried on.

Stone Crusher Busy.

The stone crusher maintained by the state on the hill adjoining Forsyth Park and overlooking the Kingston Amusement Park at the foot of North Front street is supplying stone to the whole county except on the Modena and Ellenville sections. This is possible through negotiations which have been in progress for some time with various trucking concerns.

The quarry is now producing about 135 tons of crushed stone a day, and twenty-five men are on the payroll. The crusher is operated by William Steen as foreman of crusher and William Ryan as foreman of quarry. Asa Krom, who is a blasting expert, is master driller. The employees at the crusher and quarry include many skilled mechanics as well as laborers.

The office of Charles B. Seib, who is in general charge of the maintenance work in Ulster county, is situated at the quarry.

There are a number of buildings at the quarry, including office, tool houses, sheds, etc. Blasting generally occurs at five o'clock in the afternoon, and the blasts can be heard generally throughout the city. Blasting is being done from two ledges, and just before the blasts the workmen scatter in different directions to warn people who may be walking across the fields nearby. Great care is exercised in setting off the blasts, but occasionally when a blast is fired in rock which is more or less broken than usual, pieces of rock will be hurled a considerable distance. That is why the working force always goes off in a hurry before the blast is fired, and usually before the alarm-blast.

Universal Furnishes Machinery.

The highway department recently has purchased a scarifier and scraper from the Universal Road Machinery Company of this city which will greatly expedite the work on highways now being done and to be done during the remainder of the year.

NURSES GRADUATE AT BENEDICTINE

Five Receive Diplomas—John T. Loughran Delivers Exceptionally Apt Address.

The new and attractive nurses' home of the Benedictine Hospital was filled to capacity on Thursday evening when five of the nurses, Margaret Meagher, Sister Bernice, O. S. B., Elizabeth Kraus, Margaret Leonard, Hazel Bush and Kathryn Sweeney received their diplomas and badges of graduation.

The downstairs rooms of the home were profusely and artistically decorated with June flowers. Miss Mollie Loughran being chairman of the committee of young ladies who performed this labor of love. Flowers and palms adorned the place on which the exercises took place and the musicians grouped on the porch where chairs were placed also for guests. American flags formed the decoration of the alcove off the reception room where the exercises were held, a charming picture being presented by the entire assembly.

The Very Rev. Dean Hickey, in his "greetings" to the friends of the graduates and the hospital was exceptionally felicitous. Surrounded by flowers, the dean in addition to his cordial welcome to all present related a story that was keenly appreciated. He said that finding himself so completely encompassed by floral decorations, he was reminded of the story told of the pastor of a prominent New York church. This worthy divine was noted for, not only his ability as a preacher, but the great length of his addresses. On the particular occasion he found himself, like the dean, the center of elaborate floral decorations and made the announcement to his congregation that the flowers would be distributed to any who might be sick at the close of the sermon.

Dr. Mark O'Meara, in his address to the nurses called attention to the advantages of the Benedictine Hospital as a training school. This is the only hospital, with the exception of Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, between New York and Albany where radium is used. And at present the hospital is looking forward to the addition of the wing which will increase its efficiency and means of service.

One of the especially enjoyed features of the program was the singing by Miss Elizabeth Bishop, whose solo number was "Life" by Curran. So admirably did Miss Bishop sing this number that she was obliged to respond with an encore and very sweetly sang "In the Time of Roses."

The main address of the evening was delivered by John T. Loughran who said in part:

Mr. Loughran, who received a flattering introduction from Dean Hickey, said that he had recently heard the dean assert that the function of the chairman at a public occasion was not so much to introduce the speaker to the audience as it was to introduce the speaker to himself, and that he assumed the dean had accepted his dictum to that effect in presenting him.

The hospital, said Mr. Loughran, was one of the great agencies for instrumentalities for progress, civilization and humanity. A new evolution of progress or civilization began with Christianity, an evolution founded, not as was the older movement which had answered to the same name, on power, caste or property, but on human rights, on rights inherent and inalienable in the spirit and soul of man.

All the progress of the last two thousand years has been the vindication of the human personality. The hospital has been and is one of the great instrumentalities of the advancement of progress. It had no existence antecedent to Christianity.

The hospital is one of the greatest of democrats. It is the popular heart that beats in its activities. It serves the people without regard for class, condition or creed. It is one of the points of contact between the affluent and the prosperous in the community and the poor and unfortunate, and eliminates the factional distinctions which are the cause of most of the communities' problems. And it is in the inestimable service which the nurse renders in the hospital, and through her training in the hospital to the outside world, that this work of humanitarianism and democracy is made possible.

We have strong evidence of this particular service to humanity exemplified right here in Kingston by the Benedictine Hospital and its nurses.

Mr. Loughran's address took an unusual view of the subject of nursing and hospitalization and was considered one of the best which any graduating class had been privileged to listen to.

Miss Sweeney was the valedictorian of her class and as such made a deep and favorable impression upon all who heard her, for her sincere and well chosen words.

At the close of the program, light refreshments were served, Mrs. Mark O'Meara being the chairman of the committee of ladies who served the dainties. The remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing which was greatly enjoyed as the music by the Musicians' Union was excellent.

The members of the Benedictine staff are:

Mark O'Meara, M. D., Chief of Staff; Frank L. Eastman, M. D., Secretary; Attending Surgeons, Mark O'Meara, William O'Leary, Frank L.

LOSERS DINE WITH VICTORS

Kiwanis Clubs of Kingston and Albany at Y. M. C. A. Following Ball Game—Captain Lingwood Tells About the Princess Pato.

Immediately after the ball game Thursday evening the Kingston Kiwanis Club held its weekly luncheon at the Y. M. C. A., the Albany contingent being welcome guests.

Secretary Sterling of the Albany club gracefully explained that his ball team had no alibi to offer and voiced its appreciation of the fine treatment accorded players here. Next time, he promised, the tables would be turned. He also gave the local club its first idea of what happened at the Toronto convention, also describing the military tattoo at the Canadian exposition grounds, which made a strong impression as a magnificent spectacle. The keys of the city were turned over to the 5,000 delegates and while most of these went there 100 per cent Kiwanians, they came away 1,000 per cent.

Captain Lingwood, one of the nine surviving members of the original Canadian Princess Pat regiment, sat so close at the dinner, telling vividly of its harrowing experiences in the World War, describing in detail its part in the second battle of Ypres, where it lost 1,450 of its 1,600 effectives.

Secretary Sterling had mentioned in his talk the fact that he had been born in India and when Captain Lingwood arose he disclosed that he, too, had first seen the light of day in that land. It was a unique experience for him to meet Sterling for the first time at the Kingston Y. M. C. A. when one had traveled twice around the world and the other three times.

Judge Joseph M. Fowler and Attorney Andrew Cook spoke briefly on the indisputable desirability of the hotel on the Sharpe property and the appropriateness of Kiwanis getting strongly behind it in conformity with its motto "We Build."

Dr. A. C. Gates gave the attendance prize, which was won by E. McConnell.

CLSTERITES TOOK BAR EXAMINATIONS AT ALBANY

Two young men of Ulster county were among those who tried the state bar examinations at Albany on Thursday. They were Arthur E. Kaley of Milton, and Clyde F. Gardner of Saugerties. Sixty candidates for admission to the bar tried the examinations and with one exception they were residents of the Third Judicial District. Two women were among the candidates, one of whom was Mabel S. Finton, wife of Attorney Andrew C. Fenton of Margaretville.

$440 in Fines Collected.

During the past month fees and fines amounting to $440 were collected in city court here. This amount was turned over to the city treasurer today by Judge Schirick.

REFeree HEARS DEATH CLAIMS

Insurance Company Contends Clevel-ale Not Working For City When Killed—Catskill Bridge Victims' Case Considered.

A special hearing was held at the supervisors' room at the court house this morning by Referee S. L. Otis of the compensation department of the State Industrial Commission on death claims only. There were a few cases on the calendar.

One was a claim for compensation on the death of Joseph Clevelske, an employee of the board of public works of this city who lost his life on the Fair street extension when a pile of lumber fell on him. The Hartford Insurance Company is the carrier of the compensation insurance for the city and they contended that the dead man was not employed by the city at the time the accident occurred. Andrew J. Cook is attorney for the claimants and Corporation Counsel Walter N. Gill the City of Kingston. When the case was called the Hartford Insurance Company's representative did not respond and the matter was held open.

Another matter was who was liable for damages for the death of Harry Arnold and a man named McMannus who lost their lives when the Otis Elevated railroad bridge over a creek at Catskill collapsed, while being torn down, there being a question as to who had the contract for the dismantling of the bridge.

RIFTON "MOVIES" NOW AT KEENEY'S

If You Were One of Curious, Your Likeness May Appear on Screen As One of Onlookers.

Everyone can't "star" in the "movies" but a large number of Kingston people have appeared in the movies and the film in which they appear will be shown at Keene's Theatre today and tomorrow. Manager Gildersleeve will show today and Saturday the reel taken by the "movie" company which has been taking pictures at Rifton, which shows the crowd of spectators assembled to witness the taking of "When Knighthood was in Flower." As told in the Freeman a large number of local people rushed to Rifton when it was rumored that a big picture was to be taken. A reel was "shot" of the crowd and now these people will have an opportunity to see themselves on the screen.

MANY USE HOSE WITHOUT PERMIT

The inspectors of the water board have filed a list of householders who are using hose without first obtaining a permit from the board. Under the rules of the board those who fail to first obtain a permit are liable to have their water supply shut off without warning. Water permits cost $3 and should be obtained at once at the office of the board at the city hall.

The inspectors of the department are now busy delivering the water bills for the third quarter of the year.

Three Speeders Caught.

This afternoon Officer Kuehn caught three speeders on Broadway. Hugh O'Neil of Abel street was traveling 25 miles an hour and contributed $5 to the city treasury while Signarino Carro, the Railroad avenue barber, was also fined $5 for traveling at the same rate of speed. Benjamin Weiss of Brooklyn, who was traveling 34 miles an hour, gave cash bail for his appearance later.

O'Connor a Prisoner; His Force Defeated

Four Courts Building Surrendered to Free Staters After Violent Explosion—Total Casualties Only Few Hundred—De Valera Fighting.

London, June 30.—Republican irregulars who have been battling Free State troops at Dublin since Wednesday morning, were defeated this afternoon. Four Courts Building, chief fortress and stronghold of the irregulars was surrendered to the Free State troops at 4:10 o'clock. Roderick ("Rory") O'Connor, commander-in-chief of the irregulars, is reported a prisoner in the hands of the Free State troops.

All of the irregular soldiers in the Four Courts Building were said to have surrendered unconditionally to the Free Staters.

The Four Courts Building has been wrecked by fire, artillery shells and explosions. There was a violent explosion in the main part of the building during the afternoon.

The Republican casualties were said to have been comparatively light. The Free Staters are believed to have lost about 150 men in killed and wounded. After the fall of the Four Courts Building, regulars began attacking Republican outposts over the entire city of Dublin.

Irregulars fired upon British soldiers in Talbot street, Dublin, during the afternoon. The British returned the fire with machine guns. Fighting has spread from Dublin to a number of counties. Eamonn de Valera was reported this afternoon to be fighting in the irregular army.

WAS 110 DEGREES ON STRAND TODAY

Today Was Hottest So Far Experienced This Summer—This Has Been the Wettest June in Fifty Years According to New York City Weather Bureau Records.

With thermometers on the Strand registering as high as 110 degrees this afternoon, proved the hottest so far experienced this summer. Wednesday the same thermometers registered but 102 degrees. To make the extreme heat somewhat more endurable, however, there was a slight breeze blowing throughout the day.

This has been the wettest June in New York city in fifty-one years, according to the weather bureau records there. Forecaster Scarr stated that the bureau records showed that more rain fell this June than in any June since 1871. The record to date was in 1887 when a rainfall of 7.70 inches was recorded. This June 7.44 inches has so far fallen.

GOODSELL'S CAR IS KNOCKED OVER

Abruzz Street Man and Family Had Thrilling Experience Thursday Evening When His Car Was Sideswiped by Another—Cars Damaged But No One Hurt.

Oscar A. Goodsell of No. 27 Abruzz street and his wife and two small children had a thrilling experience and a narrow escape Thursday evening on the state road near Esopus when another car sideswiped his car, tipping it over. Both cars were somewhat damaged, but no one was injured.

At the time Mr. Goodsell was driving toward Kingston in his Ford car when another Ford car driven by Louis Superior of No. 610 West 141st street, New York city, attempted to pass. In passing the Goodsell car the Superior car sideswiped it, tipping it completely over.

The Goodsells were released from the overturned car by Superior, who agreed to make good any damage. Later in the evening Superior reported the matter to the police department here. He said that he had signaled that he was about to pass and in turning out he thought that he had gotten a short distance past when he heard their calls for help, and clanking back saw the other car upside down in the road.

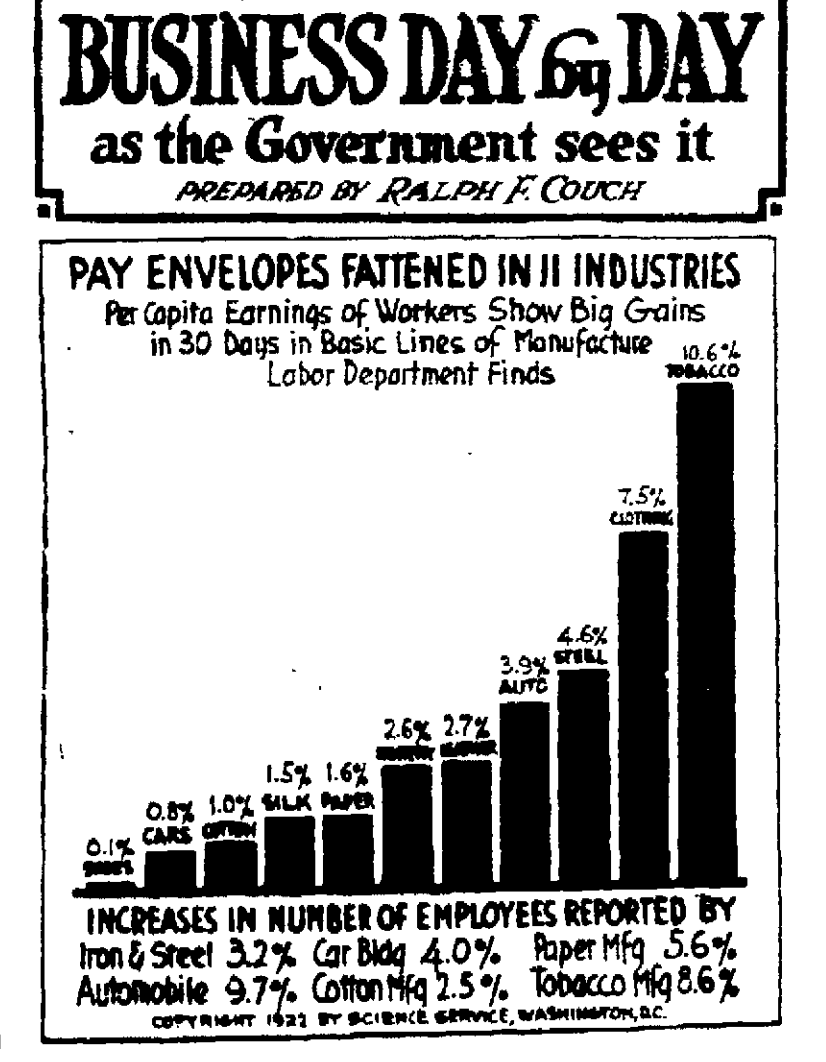

Mr. Goodsell at the time the other car struck his was driving slowly, which probably accounts for the fact that he and his family escaped serious injury.

To Visit Eight Countries.

Miss Margaret Dierling of Saugerties, will sail from New York city next Tuesday for a trip to Europe. Miss Dierling will be a member of a party of ten young ladies, school friends, who will tour the European continent and visit eight countries. The party will sail on the steamship Aquatania and return in September on the steamship Majestic.

Big Boarding House Burns.

Mountain Lodge, a seventy room boarding house on Shawangunk Mountain, near Pine Bush, Orange county, was destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon. The loss was estimated at $20,000. The belongings of most of the guests was destroyed. The property was owned by Ernest Palmer of Brooklyn.

IS NORTH POLE HEADED SOUTH?

Astronomer Asserts Greenwich
Is Moving Toward Tropics.

WABBLING EARTH IS BLAMED

Distance Between Naples, Italy, and the Equator Said to Have Been Shortened by Mile and Half in Past 51 Years—United States Coast and Geodetic Survey Makes Careful Analysis of Changes in Latitude—Little Change in Million Years.

Is the latitude of this place changing?

Is your home closer to the equator or the pole than it once was?

These may appear to be foolish questions to the average man. He has no doubt grown to look upon the earth's "belt" and its axis as immovable lines, even though they are imaginary. But an astronomer in London was quoted the other day as asserting that the distance between Naples, Italy, and the equator has been shortened by a mile and a half during the past 51 years, and that Greenwich has apparently moved half a mile toward the tropics in less than two decades. The possibility of such changes in latitude is discussed in the following bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society:

"There is no question that latitudes change, but there is a very large question whether the changes are of any considerable magnitude and whether they continue for any great length of time in the same direction. The variations that have been established are due to a slight wobbling of the earth, like that of a top which is not spinning evenly around its axis. This irregularity does not change the direction of the axis itself, but does change the point on the earth's surface (the pole-point) from which the axis emerges. By such changes most points on the earth would have their positions altered with reference to the poles and to the equator, which is always 90 degrees from the pole-point and therefore follows it in any movement which it makes.

What the Wobbles Do.

"If the earth's simplest possible rotation had had a single wobble added to it, the pole-point would trace a closed path; that is, it would return to the same position again and again after the completion of definite, equal periods. But there are at least two distinct and unequal wobbles known: one completed in a year, and one in about fourteen months. Their combination causes the pole-point to wander in a rather uneven way, tracing lines that are very roughly elliptical and which cross and recross each other. But these two known wobbles cause only a very slight variation from a steady rotation; the 'wanderings' of the pole-point because of them are believed to be always within a circle 60 feet across. The latitude of any city would be changed, therefore, because of these two recognized wobbles of the earth, at most only 30 feet north or south of its mean position.

"There are other possibilities, however, in regard to change of latitude. One is that there are other as yet unrecognized wobbles extending over longer periods which cause the pole-point to wander in circles or ellipses that may be larger than the 60-foot circle.

"Whether there is a progressive change of latitudes has long interested astronomers. In 1900 the International Latitude Service was formed and a string of six stations was established, forming a band around the world, all within a few feet of the parallel of north latitude, 39 degrees 3 minutes. These stations were situated in Japan, Russian Turkestan, Sardinia, Galithsburg, Md., Cincinnati, O., and Ukiah, Cal. Observations were made at all the stations for 14 years. The stations in Turkestan and at Galithsburg were closed at the end of 1914, and the international latitude work was discontinued at the Cincinnati station at the end of 1915. The remaining three stations are continuing the observations.

Little Change in Million Years.

"The information assembled by the International Latitude Service has been interpreted in various ways. The changes in latitudes observed were very small and it is recognized that the possibilities of error due to imperfect instruments, inaccuracies in star declinations, and the human equation, were many. One careful analysis by the United States coast and geodetic survey, however, seems to indicate that the pole-point is shifting progressively southward toward the continent of North America. This would mean that, in effect, the cities of the United States are moving slowly to the north.

"You need have little worry, though, over the likelihood that the North Pole will turn up some day in your back yard. Even though one becomes generous with assumptions and assumes that there is a southward movement of the pole-point and that it will continue steadily, its slowness makes the assumed shift almost negligible. The analysis referred to seems to indicate a southward drift of the pole amounting to a trifle over six inches a year. This would amount to less than one mile in 10,000 years. In 1,000,000 years the change would equal only 65 miles.

Broadened Observation.

"A statesman has to be a profound student."

"No doubt about it," replied Senator Sorghum. "Time was when a good campaigner could get by if he kept his eye on the map of his own state. Now you've got to be an expert in the geography of the world."

POSSIBLY SLIM WAS RIGHT

Come to Think of It, His Inamorata Hardly Displayed the Ardent Love He Had Looked For.

"Funny how a guy makes up his mind to enlist," remarked Slim, the company clerk, to a bunch of his buddies in the bunkhouse.

"What made you decide to take the big plunge?" asked a buddy.

"It was this way," explained Slim. "I had a little squabble with the girl, and I told her I was going to join the marines. Just to make it sound as if I meant business I wrote a letter to the nearest recruiting station, and before sealing the letter up I let her read it."

"Did she say anything?" asked the buddy.

"Not a word. So I went out and posted the letter. A little later I gets the answer back, saying I could enlist for two, three or four years, and I shows it to the girl. 'There you are,' says I. 'If you don't treat me different from now on, I'll go straight out and enlist for two years.'"

"Two years," says she. "Two years? Ah, don't be a piker, Slim, why don't you make it four?"

"Come to think of it," concluded Slim. "I don't think that Jane was as burghouse about me as I calculated."

The Leatherneck

In central Massachusetts, east of the Connecticut valley, is a ridge of hills, which after crossing into New Hampshire, sends up a well-known watch tower known as Mount Monadnock, 3,196 feet, says the American Forestry Magazine. This range continues northward sending up an occasional peak like Mount Sunapee, the southern Keegan and Mount Cardigan.

CALLS FOR NERVE AND SKILL

Hunters of the Sword-Fish Find Their Prey Altogether "Worthy of Their Steel."

Sword-fish schooners are the fastest fishing-boats under sail in the world. They have to be, for the sword-fish is a fast mover. He is a fighter, too. Often has he charged a ship and driven his "sword" through her stout planking. When a school of sword-fish is sighted, the spearman goes forward to the end of the bowsprit and gets into the "pulpit," an iron firing at the end of the spar, where he stands to drive his lance into a fish. The line attached to the spear rushes out of the tub in which it is coiled, and the fish makes off, doubling his speed in a vain effort to escape.

A good-sized fish will often fetch as much as $40; but it is a hard life, and it needs fine seamanship in the chase amid the huge seas of the Atlantic when bad weather prevails.

The sword-fish is widely distributed in the ocean, but is most common off the North American coast. Its average length is 7 feet, but some are 12 feet or 15 feet. The "sword" is used to spear its prey, such as cod, tunny and mackerel, and even to attack whales.

Health Shown by Finger Nails.

The rapidity of the growth of the nails is indicative of the health. The growth of the nails on the right hand is in most people more rapid than of those on the left hand. Another curious point is that the rate of growth of the nail depends directly on the length of the finger. Thus the nails on the two middle fingers of men grow more rapidly than those on the first and fourth fingers respectively, and these in turn are more speedily grown than those on the little fingers.

Caring for Cut Flowers.

It is reported that some interesting experiments have been made in the school of agriculture in prolonging the lives of cut flowers. One hundred different flowers were employed in the experiments, and it was found that sugar helped to keep most of them fresh, but was injurious to lilies and sweet peas. It hastened the opening of roses and orchids, but did not affect tulips, daisies or chrysanthemums. Experiments were made with small quantities of chloral, ether, glycerin, alcohol, lime water and ammonia salts, each of which served to lengthen the lives of various flowers. Some of the flowers kept in sugar and water lived four times as long as they ordinarily would. The sugar does not have an exactly equal effect on the different flowers it preserves. Carnations seem to like a 15 per cent solution, and roses do better in a solution of from eight to ten per cent.

Clever Mice.

Mice are getting smarter, asserts a suburban housewife, who is trying to rid her home of the unwelcome guests. Ordinary traps are of little avail, and she finds herself outmaneuvered in every engagement. First, she baited with butter. In the morning she found the trap licked clean and unopened. Then she placed a piece of fried bacon in position, confidently expecting to find a captured mouse. But the next morning the bacon was gone and no mouse remained behind. In desperation she again baited with a piece of bacon and tied it securely to the platform of the patent snare. The next morning she found the trap lying upside down, but there was no victim under the spring, and the bait was gone. She declares the mouse, seeing the bait tied, deliberately sprang the trap by upsetting it, and then ate the bait.

HAS DISCOVERED NEW FORCE

Londoner Gives Interesting Description of Manner in Which He Made Important Find.

A simple carbon rod has been discovered by A. E. Baines, a leading galvanometrist of London, which if held in the hands five minutes will recharge the human system with nerve energy that lasts 12 hours. He says it is nothing new, but, on the contrary, was known to the ancient Egyptians. He said the secret of it was lost many centuries ago. Mr. Baines said that years ago while he was standing in the British museum before a painted limestone sculpture of Khafra, an Egyptian king of the fourth dynasty, who built the second of the great pyramids of Gizeh, he noticed the figure was holding two small rods shaped something like the grip on a bicycle. Thereafter he began a series of long experiments to discover the substance which the king held, but he failed in his search until one day when he was trying to improve the microphone, for which he prepared several carbon pencils which had been hardened by a special process of his own. He said that quite accidentally he touched one of these carbon pencils and was surprised to find that his galvanic deflection swung from positive to negative. This led to further experiments, and he finally found that the ordinary carbon, when hardened by his process, gave out a force which could not be distinguished from nerve force. The bars are about six inches long and are capped at the ends with celluloid. Mr. Baines asserted the carbon rods have been of great aid in treating cases of nervous breakdown, deafness, anemia and many other complaints. He declared he did not know what the new force was.

World's Largest Reservoir.

In about two years London's reservoir at Littleton will be the largest artificial reservoir in the world. It will hold water to supply London for a month, or 6,500,000,000 gallons. Its surface will cover 800 acres.

MRS. KOLTSKI NOT TO BLAME

Her Testimony Showed That the Dog Had Deliberately Disregarded Orders She Gave Him.

Judge Oscar Hallam, in his address before the South Dakota Bar association, told this good one: "I recall a case of assault and battery, against the Koltski family, and in the course of the examination it developed that the Koltski family dog had taken an active part. Mrs. Koltski, when on the stand, was asked if she didn't instigate the activities of the dog. She insisted that she did not. The attorney said: 'Didn't you say, "Sit 'em, Caesar," for that was the dog's name. She said: "No, I did not." The attorney said, "You said something to the dog?" "She replied: "Well, what if I did?" "He insisted: "Tell us what you said to the dog." "She answered: "Why, I said, "Don't sit 'em, Caesar.""

Unsuspected Knowledge. The woman has a young college graduate friend who is just entering the business field. Louise has poise and educational background, which she displays beautifully by means of a pair of big blue eyes, homemade pink cheeks and a mop of bobbed brown curls.

She does not know whether to call her latest experience a compliment or the reverse. Yesterday Miss Isabel, the chief stenographer, dashed into Louise's office, notebook in hand, and made for the big dictionary, gasping in her flight: "What on earth does m-o-o-d-o-s-o-p-e-r-a-n-d-i mean?"

"Method of procedure," said Louise neatly from her desk.

Miss Isabel sniffed faintly and dived into Webster. In a moment she was out again and looking taxed.

"It does mean method of procedure," said she. "How on earth did you know that?"—Chicago Journal.

Washington a Conservationist.

In farming, as in politics, George Washington was no standpatter. Notwithstanding many discouragements, he could not keep from trying new things and he furnished his farms with every kind of improved tool and implement calculated to do better work. At his death he owned not only threshing machines, and a Dutch fan, but a wheat drill, a corn drill, a machine for gathering clover seed and another for raking up wheat. Yet most of his countrymen remained content to drop corn by hand, to broadcast their wheat to tread out their grain and otherwise to follow the methods as old as the days of Abel for at least another half century.

Oldest United States Post Office. Erected in 1569 the post office building at St. Augustine, Fla., is believed to be the oldest structure of the kind in the country. According to official records in the "Archives of the Indies" at Seville Spain the building was purchased by the king of Spain in 1594 from Gonzalo Mendez former governor of Florida, who erected it. The place was purchased from Mendez for $10,000 as a residence for Gov. Pedro de Yderra and his successor. In requesting that the purchase be made, Governor Yderra wrote the king that the house in which he lived was built over the sea, and was so cold and damp that two former governors had died in it.

Placing Invertebrate Gossip. The invertebrate gossip is a victim of the morbid longing for excitement. Sensation is the breath of life to many persons having a few interests and an insatiable craving for thrills, and the ingenuity they display in weaving romances about their neighbors and acquaintances is extraordinary. Parents and teachers should strive to direct the valuable instinct of curiosity towards useful and social ends, and in this way combat the mischievous sensation mongering tendency and the development of deceitfulness. Through education the bias for creating scares and sensations may be diverted to a useful goal.—Exchange.

Valuable Minerals in Saskatchewan.

Among the minerals found in the Wapawekka lake district of Saskatchewan, Canada, by the exploration party sent into the far northern part of the province by the provincial government are ochres, umbers, paint clays, bog iron ore, carbonaceous sands, shales, fire clays, glass sands and coal. Commenting upon the ochres and umbers found in the mineral waters of the lake, the ceramic engineer of the University of Saskatchewan and geologist of the party says that the samples have proven very satisfactory, particularly the ochres.

"Out of deference to the wishes of friends in whose lands I am," replied Senator Sorghum.

TAILLEUR IS BACK

Outfit Returns to Favor; Now Rivals the Coat Dress.

Question of Skirt Length Is an Individual Matter—Colors Promise to Continue Subdued.

The tailleur has won its way back to popularity and now rivals the coat dress. The hip-length jacket, straight, belted low and slightly bloused, has triumphed. Next in interest comes the straight sack coat, beltless, shorter and more youthful than the one just mentioned. Knappa and tweed are the dominant woolen materials, though the tvels and serges will always have their place. It is interesting to note that tweed is as much seen today on Fifth avenue, New York, as in the country.

Capes are persistent and one cannot overlook the charm of the cape-completed dress, which is a means of emphasizing vivid color contrasts. For instance, dark gowns may be belted with red and have their capes lined with this color, or a softer note may be carried out in beige and brown. Most capes reach half way between the waist and knee, but some only touch the hip and are attached to the shoulder at the back.

The question of the length of skirts is, to a great extent, an individual matter, which should be decided first by the proportions of the figure and then by the type of gown. It is not to be denied that skirts are longer, though, in general, this lengthening has not been exaggerated. Women have been quick to recognize that there is no "fashionable" length, that one cannot give a definite measure of so many inches from the ground which will be invariable for all figures. Dressmakers agree that the revival of the really long skirt for street wear would be a mistake. For the tailleur, for the street frock, for the walking coat, skirts are about nine inches from the ground and for afternoon or house dresses five inches. Evening gowns, on the contrary, have all become long except for the very young woman.

Colors for street costumes will continue subdued. Black still holds first place, though brown is a close second, while, as the season advances, we will undoubtedly see the beige and gray shades predominate.

IT'S NOT STRAW—JUST WOOL

Wool hats are to be the rage among the young misses this spring. This model is trimmed with crocheted flowers, and promises to be popular.

ORGANDIE IN NEW NECKWEAR
Dainty Flutings, Embroideries, Tiny Pin Tucks, Drawn Work, Spider Web Net Shown.

French hand-made neckwear that expresses the chic of Paris through the medium of crisp organdie, dainty flutings, embroideries, tiny pin tucks, drawn work and a new spider web net is being shown. French batistes and voiles are also shown, but it is the opinion of some dealers that organdie will lead the demand.

Collars are most often accompanied by cuffs, with the exception of the Tuxedo collar, which, by the way, is not being particularly emphasized in this line. In its stead a number of vestees reminiscent of the tuxedo are shown with matching cuffs. It is interesting to note that cuffs this season are much wider than those of last and omit none of the trimming details used on the collars. Oftentimes they have pink fastenings.

Clear-cut lines rather than soft, frilly effects are preferred. Laces when they are used, are dainty and simple in pattern, embroideries uniform and conventional, and a special play on organdie tubing appliques is noted. Good-lace medallion inserts are used on some numbers, a rather intricate form of drawn work gives the lace touch to others, while the new even square mesh net is used effectively in inserts and appliques.

The puritan collar promises to be particularly good in organdie, since the vogue for this type of neckwear is already established. Straight, long revers collars for coats are being experimented with and are offered, in interesting effects, as is also a vest of point lace and organdie suggestive of the gilet.

Interest is expected to center around the all-white numbers, and colors, when used, are combined with white to the form of inserts or conventional embroideries in novel effects.

ORGANDIE HELPS MAKE HAT

Organdie makes the flowers and grapes that bloom so conspicuously on this charming picture hat. The colors used are orchid and green.

LININGS COME READY-MADE

Convenience Offers Encouragement to Many Women to Construct Their Dresses at Home.

That the jobber will be a more valuable outlet for wash goods than the cutter-up is the contention of a professional shopper, who bases this theory on the growing trend toward home dressmaking. The observations of this shopper are that women are giving more attention to home dressmaking than ever—and that indications for the coming spring and summer season point to an increase of this vogue.

There are several reasons given for the greater interest in home dressmaking. In the first place, the styles are simple. Secondly, many of the department stores are giving much attention to home dressmaking. Practically all the large retail stores in New York now have regular dressmaking classes for amateurs. These are taught by professionals. The present method is for a woman to go to the pattern department. Here she is measured by saleswomen, in order to get the correct size. The cost of the pattern depends upon the style of the garment, ranging from 35 cents up to about $1.50. Having the correct size pattern, it really is not necessary for a woman to have much fitting for the garment she is to make.

However, figuring extremes—a woman buys her material—and attends one of the dressmaking classes in a department store. In one lesson, she can cut the material; and, in the second lesson, she can have it all put together—and then fitted in a third lesson.

Amateurs do not like to bother with linings, hoods and eyes, etc. But this is no longer necessary today, because one can buy ready-made linings, with all of the required attachments—and it is a simple matter to sew the lining into the dress.

Based on observations in several of the large retail stores, women are paying much more attention to cottons than to silks.

SCARF, TOPCOATS AND CAPES

Lighter Wear for Spring and Summer Receiving Especial Attention; Many Styles.

Scarves are rioting, both in color and in popularity. Silk fringed silk scarves with contrasting crosswise stripes rival the knitted wool scarves with long-wool fringe, in bright, spring coloring. The scarf verily must be an adjunct to the sport costume, for when it is not attached to cape or dress it is added on its own account.

Separate sport wraps divide themselves naturally into two classifications—coats and capes. The topcoat may be belted in front, belted in back or belted all around. The sleeve may be raglan or merely made with deep armholes. Mannish detail and tailoring are consistently followed throughout. The approved materials are tweeds, homespun, covert, chinchilla, plaid mixtures and kindred fabrics.

Capas are frequently circular if of tweed or homespun; or if made of the soft, woolly knitted fabrics, they are gathered at top and completed with a scarf. It appears impossible to go wrong with any sort of cape, although as the season advances the shorter, lighter weight type will naturally prove more practical.

Small Boy's Coat.

For the small boy's spring overcoat covert cloth is to be a popular fabric. One coat recently seen was a mannish style, plain except for two bias pieces stitched down the back, one at about the shoulder on either side. The straps were about an inch wide. The coat had tailored collar and revers and buttoned double-breasted fashion in front. The regulation navy chevrons will be smart also, and no matter what the fabric or color, a hat to match is an excellent recommendation. In addition to the many plain fabrics approved for coats for boys, some smart little plaid velours are being featured.

French Blouses Beaded.
Beads are for the most part confined to French blouses or their imitations, but have been seen also on a few other types, even silk tailleur.

Fashionable Green.
Irish green is much to the fore with the Paris couturiers and milliners for the coming spring season.

Lafayette
National Park

Ocean Front Upon Round Porcupine, Lafayette National Park.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

Lafayette National park on Mount Desert island in Maine, is one of the latest parks to be created by the federal government, and is the only national park in the East. But if young in its status as a park, it is physically one of the oldest parts of America. Its granite mountains were standing out against the ice and frost, the rains and waves, millions of years before the Rockies and the other ranges of the West had risen above the prehistoric seas that covered that part of the continent. It is the peak of the Atlantic coast-line of the United States—the one spot on the eastern coast south of the St. Lawrence where what may truly be called mountains meet the sea.

It is appropriate that the national park on Mount Desert island should be named for a great Frenchman, for the French played an important part in the earliest history of the island. It was the first land to be approached and named—"Isle des Monts Deserts"—in the earliest recorded voyage of exploration made along the coast of Maine to the east of Kennebec. Champlain sailed down this unknown coast in September, 1604, passing Isle and headland until he saw rising boldly ahead the range of the Mount Desert hills, with their bare rock peaks and deep, ice-gouged, dividing valleys. Feeling that he had come upon something worthy of closer examination, he anchored in what has since been called Frenchman's bay, a fine body of water that lies between the island and the shore to the east. By making friends with the Indians, Champlain laid the foundations the following day for the French colony which was later to occupy the island.

The fame of the beautiful Isle des Monts Deserts was carried back to France, but it was not until 1613 that an opportunity was found to settle there the proposed colony. The little ship which brought to Mount Desert its load of colonists with their seed, grain, food supplies, implements and live-stock, has been called "the French Mayflower." The voyagers landed on the east coast, not far, perhaps, from the site of Bar Harbor. Later they moved to the shores of a cove on the south side of the island.

Unfortunately, "the French Mayflower" was not destined to be responsible for a permanent settlement as was its British counterpart. After the colony had lived only a few years, a British fleet came and wrecked it. Permanent settlement was first begun from the American colonies in 1701.

Entire Island Not in Park.
Mount Desert Island lies off the Maine coast in about the latitude of Minneapolis and St. Paul, and is some 300 miles northeast of New York. It has many indentations, but may be roughly described as 15 miles long and 12 miles wide. It is connected with the mainland by a bridge utilizing an island in the narrows.

Lafayette park does not embrace the entire island. The town of Bar Harbor, an important summer resort, is situated on the eastern shore of the island and numerous privately owned estates and resorts, villages nestle in coves along the coast. The park does contain, though, the greater part of Mount Desert's outstanding features, the range of granite mountains, in places rising above 1,000 feet, which stretch across the island. Excellent ocean-side drives are all about this rugged peak; and over its hills and along its sheer cliffs and smooth domes have been constructed paths and iron ladders in order that the climber may reach its vantage points and enjoy its views of the mingled mountain and sea scenery, a combination seldom found in the east. On the south shore is the only true Atlantic fjord on United States territory. Some sound. Among the hills are number of narrow sparkling lakes, filling basins scooped out of the rock by the powerful grinding force of glaciers ages ago.

All lovers of birds and plant life can find an interest in Lafayette National park aside from its beautiful scenery and the climbing it affords. It is wonderfully fitted to be a great nesting and feeding ground for land and water birds. This is true too, of course, of the adjoining island and coast. So numerous are the denigrations that the tide washes full 2,500 miles of shore from Casco Bay north to Canada. All along the coast are to be found extensive flats in salt marshes, flooded twice a day by tides. At Mount Desert these flats rise 12 feet or more; and each level deposited on the flats of the island, much floating marine life, and contributes to the growth of fixed vegetable and animal forms. In this way Nature really sets a gigantic table for the birds.

Bird Life Sadly Depleted.

But unfortunately private control of many of the islands and coast land and more or less picturesque shore and near-shore destruction have greatly depleted the bird life along the Maine coast until now only a pitiable remnant is left of the flocks observed by early explorers. One of the results looked for by the creation of the Lafayette park and the extension which it is believed it will undergo, is the protection of bird life, and the gradual restoration of larger flocks.

This Matter of Bird Protection a Mount Desert Is Made Easier by the Fact that Perhaps no Other Area in the Northeast in the Line of Important Migrations Is Better Fitted to Grow a Great Variety of Fruiting Plants for Bird Food.

On the exposed portions of the islands, both headlands and bays, are found numerous species of plants typical of the regions of the north, including the Arctic. And sheltered nooks are scores of plants that reach their extreme northern limits—plants of the southern coastal zone. Finally the soil type are varied so that both plants of ice and of basic areas thrive. Next every food plant, then, known to live in northern or central regions, either grows or can be grown on Mount Desert island.

Just as Lafayette National park differs from the western parks in its foundations and type of scenery, so it differs in origin. When the original national park creation came, the federal government owned vast stretches of mountain and plain and valley in the West, and was able to select the which was most picturesque and easily designate it as public playground. But all public lands in the East have long since passed into private hands, and for several decades there were eastern parks. The unique beauty of Mount Desert island led persons familiar with it to feel that it would be the ideal eastern park. An association of private individuals was formed to trace after the trail of the rugged hills the island were purchased. These were tendered to the national government in 1916, and in 1918 congress passed an act accepting the land and creating the park. It is contemplated that other tracts will be added from time to time until eventually a large part of the mountainous island will be a federal reservation.

LEGION "ATTACKS" TOWN BOND SALE BUDDIES TOMORROW

The membership committee of Kingston Post No. 150, will get together for instructions and orders at the Armory at 7:45 o'clock, tonight, when all will be put in readiness to attack for new members. The zero hour will be Saturday morning, as soon as the sleeping barge lifts. The objective will be the ranks of service men in this sector, who are not members of Kingston Post.

The advance information from other posts in the state indicates that they hope to double their membership and share in the prize money offered by the Legion Weekly.

Kingston Post will prove they have a high morale, and the shock they will hand out, should capture many new members. Should the ex-service men attacked have any idea what the Legion stands for, and what they have done and will do, they will surrender and join up with Kingston Post.

Old Inca Used Brass.
That the ancient Inca Indians had a knowledge of brass is shown by the analysis of an axe head composed of a mixture of copper and zinc.

CITY WILL HONOR FOUNDER

Rio de Janeiro to Erect Monument to Estacio de Sa, Regarded as First Settler.

One of the landmarks of Rio de Janeiro has been a hill about 300 feet high in the heart of the city, called the "Morro de Castello." A chapel crowned the top, and there was the tomb of Estacio de Sa, who with his brother, Salvador de Sa, shares the title of founder of the city. Salvador was drowned at sea, so only Estacio could be entombed. Nearby the chapel on the hill was a stone something like a milestone, bearing the date 1567, and called the foundation stone.

On January 30 Rio de Janeiro celebrated the three hundred and fifty-fifth anniversary of its founding. As it had been decided to raise the hill and so make available valuable land, the day the ashes of Estacio were taken from their long-time resting place and carried in an army wagon to the monastery of the Capuchins at the beginning of the ascent of the mountain Tijuca. In another wagon was the foundation stone, followed by a long procession composed chiefly of Roman Catholic religious bodies.

After the ground where the hill was is properly prepared a monument to commemorate the founding of the city will be erected in the same place, and the remains of the founder and the foundation stone will be put there.

ANY OLD STAMPS?

Might Not Be Bad Idea to Rummage Through the Attic.

Fortune Have Been Made by Lucky Possessors of Envelopes Long Regarded as Worthless.

A journalist hobnobbing with the cognoscenti gathers that even in old America there are many thrills in stamp collecting. I got into contact with some of the big league professionals of stamp collecting, the New York brokers of big houses that buy and sell stamps of every value, from the sort they purchase literally by the ton and handle with scoop shovels, to the rarities that are handled gingerly with little tongs, like precious jewels. Charles Phelps Cushing writes in Leslie's.

In a high vaulted room, walled and roofed with glazed white tiles, like a cellar grill room or a high-ceilinged subway station—though it opened on to the sidewalk of a sunlit side street in uptown New York—one of these professionals told me stories of the adventures of "Hawaiian blues," old anecdotes made timely by the record price that Ferrary stamps recently fetched in Paris.

"Missionaries," the trade calls this Hawaiian issue, he said, because they were printed in a day when American clergymen invaded the "Sandwich" Islands to convert the natives to Christianity. Every relative or known correspondent of those evangelists, any one to whom a letter that bore one of those rare stamps might have been sent, has been traced by professional collectors seeking new "finds."

"A few years ago," the professional collector related, "we knew of only ten copies of that first issue. Then in an old schoolhouse in the islands two more turned up by accident. A visitor to that schoolhouse noticed under some peeling whitewash in the corner an old yellow envelope. He pulled it out of the plaster and found on it two blue scraps of paper, each worth a small fortune."

Another story of Hawaiians, this time concerned with genuine copies but not so rare an issue, relates of a bargain made from New York by mail through California agents. A representative of one of the big eastern stamp agencies, a man of the type that baseball would describe as a "semipro," worked on a Los Angeles newspaper and had stamp collecting on a commission basis as a side line. He received word one day to investigate a rumor that a retired farmer and his wife possessed letters from a relative who had been a missionary to Hawaii in the '40s.

On the day that he received the letter the agent was too busy to go out to the place, a little bungalow in the distant suburbs. But the following afternoon he was able to get away and motored out in his flivver. Just as he drew up to the place the front door opened and three broad smiles greeted him: the first two on the features of the old couple, the third, with something of malicious triumph in it, on the face of a rival collector.

"Too late, Bill," sang out the rival. "We've just closed the deal. Gimme a lift back to town and I'll tell you all about it on the way."

It seems he hadn't been sure they saved the letters from Uncle Ezra, but now he remembered where they'd stored them in the attic.

A week or two later the representative returned to the bungalow and handed pa a check. The old gentleman's face blanched when he saw what it read and he dropped down and limp on to the porch swing and nearly fainted. He and his wife were far from well to do and that check for $3,000 meant comfort for them to the end of their days.

Needed No Apprenticeship.

Recently a Jeffersonville man, who is classed among the heavyweights and therefore fitted for a place on the police force, applied for appointment and was selected, relates the Indianapolis News. Being more diffident than one would expect for a man of his avowed position, he applied to a friend of his, now a justice of the peace, but then running a little grocery, for some hints on what to do. His friend gave him some counsel and encouragingly remarked: "You'll soon get on to the work all right." The second night after his appointment the new officer fetched up outside his friend's grocery, passed the time of night, reached out a big hand and grabbed a bunch of bananas and proceeded ruminatively to dispose of them. His friend looked at him for a moment or two, also ruminatively, and then said: "Officer I don't much think you need anybody to teach you your rights and duties."

Inside Out.

A tall, pretty, dark-eyed girl in the dressing room of the New York university snuffed out her hair under her hair net and, turning away from the mirror, announced to the chattering crowd, "I'm going to have my hair bobbed."

"Oh, don't you do it!" "Don't be silly!" "You have such beautiful hair!" came in a protesting chorus.

"Well, I'm going to have it bobbed anyway. That is, just as soon as mother will say yes."

"I'll bet she won't." "Small chance you have." "What does she say?" the voices rose again.

"Oh, she'll come around all right; you'll see. She says now that she'll let me do it, if I'll go to a doctor first to find out what is wrong with the inside of my head."—Pittsburgh Leader.

Wealth Has Its Drawbacks.

It would be a considerable consolation to the poor and discontented, could they but see the means whereby the wealth they covet has been acquired, of the misery that it entails.—Bismarck.

OUTDOES RAVEN OF FICTION

New York Bird Believed to Be the Champion Talker of the Feathered Tribe.

Meet a rare bird from Australia! He is coal black, with white china eyes, a wicked laugh and a trick dance that he does in his cage on top of the ice box in a Bronx park tea room. He sits there next to the root beer barrel and is willing, say his managers, to challenge all birdland to a talking match, according to the New York Sun. When it comes to quoting short and pithy phrases Poe's raven, with his "Nevermore" recitative, was merely an also ran.

This bird doesn't know how he got here. He remembers being somewhere out in the suburbs of Sydney on a summer night. Then he was trapped and out on the high seas before he knew what was happening.

Now he lives in Bronx park and never a bird in a gilded cage has as fine a line of patter as this old raven. Perhaps he is segregated as he will not teach the whole parrot house to Jeer at Sunday afternoon visitors. He can talk in a rich, deep barytone voice such as never belonged to a parrot and can interpose intervals of falsetto. At the end of every speech he hops down and does a double shuffle dance. Then he laughs at the audience.

Very Depths of Despair.

Stanley Coulter, dean of Purdue university, has found a new definition for the word "pessimist," which he gave to the Optimist club of Lafayette, Ind., at a club luncheon a few days ago.

Dean Coulter, who is chairman of the Near East relief organization of Tippecanoe county, made an appeal to the club for Armenian orphan aid, his talk supplementing a showing of the picture, "Alice in Wonderland."

The dean asserted that all optimists must come to the relief of distressed people of the world. "I know the optimists of this club," he said, "and I am sure there is not one of you like the man I recently heard about—a man who feels bad when he feels good for fear he will feel worse after he feels better. That, gentlemen, is the latest explanation of a real pessimist."

Youthful Diplomacy.

Grandma had made with loving care two charming frocks for her grandchild's fifth birthday, and while in the making she wondered which would appeal the more to the little lady's taste.

When the frocks were presented on the all-important day the child looked them over with delight. Grandma watched her expressions eagerly and said:

"Which little frock do you like the better, dear?" A puzzled frown, a brief second of hesitation, a flashing smile and:

"I like them both the best, grandma."—Chicago Journal.

How Many Hours in Your Day?

Does your day contain 16 hours of good constructive work and healthful relaxation, or do you begin to feel heavy-limbed and sleepy in the middle of the afternoon and then stay awake tossing half the night?

During the hot summer weather, many people do not get the things necessary to keep their bodies functioning properly. They do not feel hungry, so they neglect their diet. They begin to lose weight, feel tired, lose their "pep."

Utra Club Pilgrimage, made from pure malt, hops and yeast, is rich in vitamins—just the elements your system may need. It quickens the appetite, aids digestion, and is itself a nourishing food. Try it and notice your improvement.

Case of 24 bottles costs only $1.75, plus $1.00 deposit, which is refunded on return of the empty bottles. Cases delivered and called for, if your grocer doesn't carry Utra Club, phone 1000 or 1005-R. Kramer & Siegel, 70 Chambers Street, Rondout, local distributors.

KNEW MUCH OF SANITATION

Explorer Points Out Error in Classing People of Old Times as Absolutely Barbarian.

During a protracted stay in Arabia and other parts of the Near East, Col. W. G. Archer of Evansville, Ind., master plumber and field agent of the National Association of Master Plumbers, made a study of ancient sanitation equipment. He returned to the United States only a few months ago and was in this city recently, says a San Antonio correspondent.

"We prize of our great civilization and we discount the ancients, because we know next to nothing of their methods or their customs," Colonel Archer said. "I found bathtubs made of onyx in Babylon and evidence of tubs made of metal and various other kinds of stone. They are identical with those of today, with the same openings for letting water in and for letting it out. The Babylonians had sanitation, plumbing and bath facilities practically as we have them today."

"I know a number of Englishmen who are 'digging' in the ruins of the island of Crete, and I recently received pictures of vitrified bathtubs and toilet fixtures that they have unearthed there."

INQUEST INTO WEINTRAUB DEATH

Girl Was Under Burning Car In Creek 15 Minutes—Another Session July 7 When Miss Dillberger Will Testify.

An inquest was held by Coroner Howard Hunnison at Firemen's Hall at Ellenville Thursday to learn the circumstances surrounding the death of Miss Ida Weintraub of New York city, who was killed in an automobile accident on the Greenfield road when the automobile owned and driven by Leon Barnum of Bridgeville, Sullivan county, ran off a bridge and was overturned, with its four occupants.

The examination was conducted by District Attorney Traver and lasted from 10:30 o'clock in the morning until late in the afternoon, during which time sixteen witnesses were examined. Miss Jessie Dillberger of New York city, who was a member of the ill-fated party, was not present, having returned to New York after the tragedy, but she is expected to be present at the next hearing.

The principal witness was Max Lowery of Bridgeville, who was the fourth member of the party. He said he and Barnum, in the latter's car, had called for the young women at the Superior Hotel at Bridgeville about eight o'clock Monday evening and they had driven to Mountaindale, where they stopped long enough for him to enter a store and buy some candles known as "Life Savers" for one of the young women. Then they proceeded on through Woodbourne and thence to Ellenville, where they turned around and retraced their route over the road toward Greenfield, stopping once along the road.

They reached the bridge where the accident occurred about eleven o'clock. Lowery said he did not know how the car struck the bridge or what struck the car, but he suddenly felt the car going over and the next thing he knew he was standing in the water. He looked around and saw Miss Dillberger on her knees in the water. He could not remember where Barnum landed. He saw nothing of Miss Weintraub.

Fire broke out in the car almost immediately. He helped Miss Dillberger out of the water and then went back to help Barnum put out the fire. They could not get close to the car at first, but after about fifteen minutes they had the flames extinguished. Then he and Barnum and two or three other men who had arrived at the scene tried to lift the car but could not turn it over. They sent for help and when other men arrived they succeeded in turning the car on its side and found Miss Weintraub beneath it. They carried her to the bank of the creek but she was dead.

There was some evidence to show that after the accident Barnum had said he did not see the bridge but ran on the stringer and the car fell over.

Other witnesses, including Miss Dillberger, will be called and the inquest was adjourned to July 7.

HAD HEARD IT ALL BEFORE

Mr. Pester's Pessimism Interrupted by Memories of His Grandfather's Remarks Concerning Time's Trend.

"This boasted progress of ours is mere illusion," grumbled old Festus Pester. "Corruption permeates our entire social fabric. Selfishness has supplanted generosity. The process of civilization is going on at an alarming rate. Our sole god has come to be money. Vice is tolerated, and we make obeisance by hypocrisy. Patriotism has disappeared. Waste and idleness abound. Humanity is decaying at heart. Criminality, moral obliquity, class hatred, the destruction of the family sentiment, pessimism and skepticism are evident on every side; and so on and so forth."

"In fact, I would mention that a crisis is at hand, and also that it is a pretty kettle of fish. If I did not recall that my venerable grandfather held practically the same opinion of the world and his fellow men at his stage of the game and there are still in existence letters written by his grandfather wherein is set forth a like estimate of the folks and affairs of his day, and there is a tradition to the effect that his ancestors felt the same way about their own times and associates. And very likely I might run for office on the strength of the awful condition of everything if I hadn't always been fairly respectable and reasonably able to earn an honest living."—Kansas City Star.

"Did you participate in many engagements while in France?" asked the interested old lady.
"Only five," replied the ex-A. E. F. or with becoming modesty.

"Not exactly," he returned sadly. "I married the fifth."—American Legion Weekly.

They Heard Him.

Brother had the habit of asking for something to eat whenever he happened to be at a neighbor's house, so his mother told him he must never do such a thing again.
The next time he returned from a visit to the neighbor's she asked him if he had begged for anything to eat.
"No," he said. "I was just talking to myself about how hungry I was, and they heard me."

Dr. John A. Harriess, Special Deputy Police Commissioner of New York city, in charge of traffic, has invented a simple system that meets approval.

Dr. John A. Harriess, special deputy police commissioner of New York city, in charge of traffic, has invented a simple system of hand signals for automobile drivers that is meeting the approval of authorities all over the country. The system has been approved by Chief of Police J. Allan Wood of this city, and is being used by the drivers of the police department cars.

The system devised by Dr. Harriss is plain and comprehensible and its adoption by auto drivers will be found to minimize the chances of confusion. Intelligent drivers will understand the system at a glance and will never forget it. Others can be taught in no time. The system was first printed in Collier's Automobile number in January.

Dr. Harriss says that only five signals are necessary and has suggested the following:

1. To Signal Your Intention to Turn to the Left—Extend the arm and point the first finger to the left.
2. To Signal Your Intention to Turn to the Right—Flex the left arm upward at the elbow and point the first finger to the right.
3. To Signal Your Intention to Stop—Extend the arm with the back of the hand to the rear of the car.
4. To Signal Your Intention to Back Up—Extend the arm with the palm of the hand to the rear of the car, and motion in a backward direction.
5. To Signal Your Intention to Turn Completely Around—Circle the arm and hand three times forward to indicate a turn to be made to the right, and circle three times backward to indicate an intention to make the turn to the left.

There is no need to include here a "come forward and pass me" signal. This is universally made by motioning the hand in a forward direction from the elbow and wrist. It is a gesture that is plainly understood all over the country.

Editor, The Freeman:

For the past two months the residents of O'Neill street have been living in a cloud of dust, and we are wondering why the city of Kingston allows one of its most traveled streets to remain in such a condition. We put it just the same as those who reside on other streets. And we are not entitled to some "service." Last year the above mentioned street was filled in the early part of the summer but this year it is nothing but eat dust all day long.

Evidently the board of public works did not think there was going to be any dust this summer, not informed as to the fact they have just informed us that there have just ordered some oil for the street. Summer arrived too soon for the board of public works and for that reason we will have to continue to swallow some more dust.

EASY TO SET COLOR IN SUMMER DRESSES

The simplest way to set colors in summer wash dresses is to soak them thoroughly in salt and water, because salt is cheap and always at hand. Housewives have found: a handful of salt to a gallon of water is the right proportion. Other substances, however, give more lasting results for certain colors. The following have been used successfully by home economics workers at the state agricultural college at Ithaca for setting these colors in cotton or linen.

To set blue, one-half cup mild vinegar to a gallon of water; for pink or red, from one tablespoon of sugar of lead to each gallon of water; for green, one-half to one ounce of alum according to the depth of the tint, or the same proportion of sugar of lead. For black, deep blue, or very dark colors, from one to two tablespoons of or gall may be dissolved in each quart of water; the garment is soaked in this solution, dried and then washed.

CHIEF CHIPP ASKS FIRELESS FOURTH

Warning of Danger to Life and Property in Glowing Cores of So-Called "Sparklers."

Fire Chief Chipp today added his voice to those of the growing number of people who desire to see the old, dangerous Fourth abolished and its place taken by a new Fourth, with community celebrations of a type not only safer, but more appropriate and impressive.

"I hope I'll not be accused of dampening the spirit of the occasion, but I sincerely wish it were possible for every parent—yes, and every boy and girl, too—to spend the Fourth of July in my company and witness some of the 'celebrating' this occasion. I think it would result not merely in increased agitation for a 'safe and sane' celebration in Kingston, but in a great popular demand for it," said the chief, when interviewed on the subject of the observance of Independence Day this year.

"Only last year," he continued, "sparks from fireworks caused the death of two, and a property loss of $125,000 at a hotel on Long Island, a sky-rocket destroyed a manufacturing plant in Pennsylvania, with a loss of $400,000. These are typical of hundreds of instances. Death and injury, and fire loss from this cause are so totally unnecessary and can be so easily eliminated that they are doubly deplorable.

"Since the passage of the Declaration of Independence there have been more casualties due to 'celebrating' that historic event than there were on the American side during the war that made the document effective, and more money has gone up in smoke from fires set by celebrators than was appropriated by the Continental Congress to carry on the Revolutionary War.

"I want to call particular attention," went on the chief, "to the so-called 'electric sparkler' which is alleged to be harmless. What people do not realize is that while the sparks themselves do not ignite, a genuine danger lurks in the glowing core. Last year serious cases of burning were reported by the score, while in New York, Chicago and Trenton deaths occurred from 'sparklers.' In the last thirteen years, according to official report, 'thirty-eight children were burned to death by 'sparklers' in the city of Philadelphia alone."

"I learn from the National Board of Fire Underwriters that the argument was presented last year in defense of these dangerous play-things that there were 'only three children killed against fifteen million packages of 'sparklers' sold,' which was referred to as a 'good percentage.' Let me quote the reply of one of the country's fire marshals. This official said: 'A "good percentage" indeed! To whom? Parents of dead children? If these things had brought death to but one child, that in itself would be sufficient to damn 'sparklers' forever. Is there a father or mother in Kingston who doesn't agree with that verdict? "It seems to me," the chief concluded, "that it would be an appropriate way of demonstrating our patriotism and appreciation of what the Declaration of Independence has meant for us by seeing how much of the life and wealth of the nation we can conserve. We've made a start in recent years. Let's see if we can't improve on it next Tuesday with a Fireless Fourth."

WOODSTOCK TOWN MEETING

To Decide Whether Town Shall Build Suitable Bridges And Thus Secure State Construction Of Five Miles of Road Between Bearville And Willow.

The qualified voters of the town of Woodstock who are taxpayers of the town will hold a special town meeting at the Town Hall, Woodstock, on Wednesday, July 12, to vote on a proposition to borrow on bonds of the town or other obligations the amount of $30,000 for the purpose of constructing three bridges on County Highway No. 602 in that town and for the widening of another bridge now there.

The construction of the three bridges and the widening of the fourth bridge will be necessary before the town of Woodstock can secure without cost to itself the five miles of highway extending from Shults's store at Bearville through Lake Hill, to Willow.

It will be recalled that some years ago the state of New York voted to bond itself for fifty million dollars for the construction of highways. Among the highways for whose construction petitions were filed was the five mile stretch from Shults's store at Bearville to Willow. The petition was filed in 1907.

A number of highways for which petitions were filed were built in every county. The number of petitions was so large that all could not come under the fifty million dollar appropriation, and other means of payment were adopted and roads that have been built since that time have been paid for under the various plans that have been adopted from time to time by the legislature.

Some time ago it was found that there was an unexpended balance of the fifty million dollar appropriation and Attorney General Newton decided that the roads for which petitions had been filed fifteen years ago but which never had been built under that plan or any other plan were entitled to the benefit of such unexpended balance.

The only road in Ulster county which could share under the old plan and have the benefit of free construction out of the state fund was found to be the Bearville-Willow highway—a distance of five miles. Attorney General Newton decided that such roads must be built this year if they were to be paid for by the state out of the unexpended balance of the fifty million dollar appropriation. If they are not constructed this year, then the amount which otherwise would be paid for them reverts to the fund created under the Hewitt bill and the community and the county not only lose the opportunity of free construction by the state but the county loses that number of miles of state road. In other words, a community or town which does not take advantage of the right to free construction of a highway out of the fifty million dollar fund forfeits its rights. Thereafter, if they want that road built, they must pay for it under the present highway law.

Therefore, the engineers of the state highway department proceeded to get busy with plans, so that contracts can be awarded and construction started on such roads as are entitled to be built at state expense out of what is left of the fifty million dollar appropriation.

The state always has required before building a state road that towns shall have proper bridges that will carry the traffic.

On the Bearville-Willow road, it will be necessary to furnish three new bridges and to widen another bridge before the state highway department is permitted by law to award any contract, and that is the reason the special town meeting has been called to be held at the Town Hall in Woodstock on Wednesday, July 12.

The special town meeting is called pursuant to an application made by the town clerk on June 19. Under the law, the vote shall be by ballot and any qualified voter of the town shall be qualified to vote provided he or she is an owner of property of the town, assessed on the last preceding town assessment roll.

The polls will be open for voting from sunrise to sunset.

CATCHER NEEDED ASBESTOS GLOVE

"Steam" Jacklin Made Merry Hit in Mountain League—Released After First Game as His Fast One Ignited Bats and Burned Players' Hands.

"That boy sure has some speed," remarked the Young Fan turning to the Old Fan after watching Bud Chilton hurt them over for the Colonials in a recent game.

"Not bad at all," conceded the Old Fan, "but for real speed you should have seen Steam Ball Jacklin of the famous Mountain League hurt them over. Why Steam Ball was so fast that after the first game he pitched for the Galluppers they had to release him as all of the players on the opposing team had burned hands and there was not a bat left to play with."

"It seems," continued the Old Fan, "that the Galluppers were in need of a twirler for the deciding game, with the Busters in a series of three games being played on the Galluppers' home lot."

While Captain Ralph Roadboy of the Galluppers was wondering who he would play that afternoon Steam Ball Jacklin, out of a job, strolled up and urged that he be given a chance to display his wares in the box.

"Go to it," said Captain Roadboy after he had watched the steam ball artist throw over a few in practice. "That game that afternoon was a scorcher in more ways than one. The Busters were out for blood and with Captain Twin Gormley pitching at top form the game had run to seven innings with neither side scoring a run."

"A funny thing about the game was the fact that as the innings slid by Steam Ball Jacklin grew better and better, and his fast one actually smoked as it shot through the air. The first of the eighth rolled around with the Busters at bat. That inning was the strangest I ever saw. Steam Ball Jacklin hurled them over so fast that after he had thrown three balls for a strikeout on the first Buster the Galluppers' catcher had to retire from the game as the ball had burned a hole through the big catching mitt and inflicted a nasty burn on the palm of his hand."

"Captain Roadboy went in behind the bat, and both he and the Buster player were astounded when the hurled ball set fire to the bat as the Buster struck at it. Yes sir the ball was so hot that as it bounded off the broken bat and fell in the grass it started the grass burning briskly, and if the players had not got busy with the hose and extinguished the flames the grandstand and fence would have been consumed as the breeze that was blowing caused the fire to spread rapidly."

"Well that stopped the game then and there. Captain Roadboy, not being equipped with an asbestos glove, was unable to handle the offerings of Jacklin, and the Busters refused to

TWO TOUGH GAMES FOR COLONIALS

Schenectady Knights, Now Going Lake House After Here Tomorrow And Jersey Caps, Royal Giant Beaters, Sunday.

Two of the toughest week-end games of the season are on the Colonial's schedule for Saturday and Sunday. Tomorrow the local club will oppose the Schenectady Knights of Columbus team, and on Sunday the Jersey City Police will be the attraction.

The Schenectady K. of C. opened their season here with the Colonials, going down to defeat in one of the best games of the season. The following day they were defeated at Poughkeepsie by the Schatz Club. Since then the Knights have been greatly strengthened, and only the Brooklyn National League team, playing most of its first string men, has been able to score a win over the Dorpians since the Schatz game. The Knights held Brooklyn on even terms until the eighth, when the National Leaguers made four runs and won by a 5 to 1 score. The Schenectady team also turned the tables on the Schatz Club, last Sunday, taking a 7 to 2 game.

The Jersey City Police will come to Kingston with a long string of victories to their credit, chief of which is one over the Brooklyn Royal Giants. The Jersey City team plays regularly in the best metropolitan semi-pro circles, and should offer Captain Schirck's men some mighty stiff opposition.

face a pitcher whose fast ball when hit set fire to their bats.

"In the argument that followed the umpire was stumped as the rule book gave him no hint as to what action he should take. By the time he had made up his mind it was too dark to play, and he ruled that the game should be re-played the following day and that Jacklin was barred from pitching it."

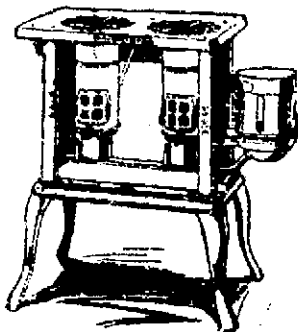

"When you talk about speed hereafter," concluded the Old Fan turning to the Young Fan, "just remember Steam Ball Jacklin and his fast one."

AGRICULTURE.

"Got the screens all in?" is a good early summer query.

"The longer they grow the more weeds there'll be and the harder to kill 'em."

"Just after they have finished flowering is the best time to prune the early flowering shrubs around the house and yard."

A self feeder for the spring pigs gets 'em to market before it is glutted with those that grow slowly because they are fed by hand.

Uncle Ab says: The Fourth of July is a good time to renew in our hearts and acts the pledge that we fought for recently in the "war for peace."

New shoots offer a better indication of when to cut alfalfa than do blossoms. When the shoots are from one-half to one inch long is the time to begin.

I went by the field of the sluggard and lo, it was grown all over with thorns. So shall poverty come as a robber and want as an armed man.—Prov. XXIV. 29.

Along in the summer when eggs begin to get scarce again is a good time to know about proper feeding for egg production. The State Agricultural College at Ithaca has a bulletin on the subject which it will send free for the asking. Write for F-137.

TO SELL WARES OF SKILLED COOKS

"Something good to eat" appeals particularly to the palate of everybody during the summer and it makes just as strong an appeal to the housewife who provides or plans the meals. For that reason, the food sale to be held by the Ulster County Home Bureau at the R-G-R store on Saturday afternoon from two to five o'clock is expected to be one of the most successful of the year. Home Bureau members know how to cook, and not only that but how to cook well. They are contributing the product of their skill and oven to the food sale and are anxious that their neighbors should know just what they can do in the culinary line. The sale would not be complete without home-baked bread, rolls, cake and cookies, and these and other things will be found in abundance at the sale.

Y., mentioning lowest guarantee in first letter.

Unfair Discrimination.
Nichols watched his papa give his two older brothers money for carfare and money for the collection at church. He wanted to go to church also, but his papa told him he would have to stay at home. He immediately said: "Why don't you make them kids stay home? They is the ones what always wants the nickels."

HOBART MAY GET NEW STATION

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, June 30.—J. R. Stephenson, representing the Hobart, Delaware county, trustees, yesterday appeared before Public Service Commissioner Blakeslee and urged action upon the complaint of the trustees of Hobart asking for certain proposed changes in the highway grade crossings of the Ulster & Delaware Railroad Co. in Hobart and the construction of a new passenger and freight station. As a result of the hearing C. R. Vanheman, chief engineer of the commission will go to Hobart on July 10 and make an inspection of the railroad company's facilities there. A joint conference between the trustees and the railroad's representatives will follow and if no agreement is reached, the hearing will be continued on July 20 at Albany.

The Ulster & Delaware Railroad was represented by H. H. Fleming, attorney, Edward Cockendall, president and L. Phelps, superintendent. The railroad company objected to a proposed plan of grade crossings which would carry Hobart highways over its four tracks and directly through its freight yard. The railroad's representative admitted that the station facilities were inadequate, especially the freight house. It is expected that a conference will follow over the building of a combined freight and passenger station.

KIWANIS SCORES FOURTEEN RUNS

Kingston Got 9 to 6 for Albany.
Locals Using 14 Men—Up-State Twister Good When He Got Going.
When it comes to being royal entertainers the Kingston Kiwanians are hard to beat, and when it comes to playing ball the same thing holds true. At any rate, the Kingston Kiwanis baseball club first took the Albany Kiwanis team into camp at the Fairgrounds Thursday evening by an 8 to 6 score, and after the game proceeded to entertain their brothers from up-state in real brotherly fashion. The game was played for the benefit of the Boy Scout movement, all proceeds going to that organization.

There is one thing the local Kiwanis team believes in doing, and that is in giving every one a chance to show what he can do. Fourteen players were pressed into service by Manager Boessneck, and he it said that all did exceedingly well. Albany with her nine men played good ball after the first inning, but the Kingston team scored enough runs in the first to put the game away.

It is said that Captain Schirrick of the Colonials is hot on the trail of Left Fielder Renner of the Kingston team, and also second baseman Mack. Renner didn't get in the game until the seventh inning, but one fly he pulled down would have been a credit to Billie Schwab. Mack got everything that came his way and some that didn't, handling five hard chances in good style.

Ronin, the elongated twirler of the up-staters, got better as the game progressed, but a six run lead gained by the local team in the first was too much for him. Albany pushed two runs over in the first when Safford dropped Bott's throw on Ronin's grounder, followed by a two bagger or Chase and a single by Gale. Kingston didn't hit very hard in their half of the first, but the Albany infielders were picking the ball up to get a better hold on it, and four or five errors resulted on easy throws before the side was retired. Two bases on balls followed, a single to right by Doolittle and another to left by Davis, sent six Kingstonians over the plate.

The visitors were full of fight and threatened to even matters up in the fifth, pulling up to within two runs of the Kingston total. Davis developed a wild streak and sent Trice and Keller, the first two hitters, to first on four balls, and a drive to second by Ronin, Chase's single and another by Gale, sent three runs over the rubber. Kingston was finding Ronin hard to hit after the second, and only one local player managed to tally after that inning. In the seventh Dittus singled, and went all the way home when the throw to get him stealing second got by Herzog and rolled past Hollander in center.

Art Rice of the Colonials did the umpiring and found it unnecessary to put any one out of the game for disputing his decisions.

COLLEGE PROFESSORS HORSESHOE CONTEST.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Ithaca, N. Y., June 30.—Results made public yesterday of the first state-wide horseshoe pitching tournament ever held in New York show that aside from G. E. Snyder of Albion, state champion, who pitched a total of 46 ringers and 8 double ringers in three 50-point exhibition games, L. C. Kirkland, a member of the staff of the state college of agriculture, holds the honors for accurate pitching. He made 13 ringers in the eight 21-point games he pitched for the silver loving cup before he and his team mate were defeated.

The next high scorer was J. F. Clugstone of Binghamton, who threw ten ringers in the five games he pitched before he was defeated in the third set of matches for the cup. Hamilton Mount Pleasant from the Tuscarora reservation at Sanborn, one of two Indian lads who defended the title of the reservations in the state, was third highest man, throwing six ringers in six games. The pitching of the Indian team composed of Mount Pleasant and Russell Hill from the Tonawanda reservation at Akron, kept them in the tournament until defeated by the faculty team, which later won the trophy.

TOURIST IS BEST LIVING PERSON IN ALL GERMANY

Invasion of Foreigners Sends Prices So High That Germans Are Barred.

The attitude of the Germans to the "valuta rich" foreigners is assuming a controversial character, and discussions as to the pros and cons of the matter are appearing with increasing frequency in the German press. Like every problem, this also has two sides, a fact that is fully realized by the Germans themselves, who, with absolutely nothing inhuman or racially hostile in their attitude, are asking themselves where things are going to end if the invasion of foreigners increases in the same ratio as the mark decreases. They know their poverty stricken country would suffer inexpressibly if foreigners were discriminated against to an extent which would keep them out of the country, but, on the other hand, the invasion is sending the prices up so high that the Germans are beginning to find themselves barred from many of their former pleasures and diversions.

For instance, the thrifty German who always arranged his household budget so that every member of the family could take the "air cure" so dear to the heart of the German, is now reading with dismay that hundreds of thousands of Americans alone are expected to be emptied into Germany through the northern ports, to say nothing of the hordes that will sweep down from the Scandinavian countries and Holland. The American army will march across Germany to beautiful Bavaria and there proceed to spread itself in the picturesque villages and hamlets, to the exclusion of the native population. The German has a vision of himself and his family crowded into their now shrunken Berlin apartment, while the stranger appropriates his favorite haunts and fires on the fat of the land.

Mrs. Woods in her office will have the direction of 128 employees.

BOY PULLS OWN TOOTH

Used a Pliers on Himself in Order to Learn to Play the Flute.
A real martyr to music has been brought to light by Miss Winetta L. Stacks, the superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Deaconess home at Philadelphia. Miss Stacks in describing the efforts to initiate music classes in settlement work, told of one small boy who confided that his life's ambition was to play the flute. The teacher struggled in vain to teach him, but his lips would not pucker right.

Finally the teacher said: "Joe, I guess you will never learn to blow a flute because of the way that front tooth has grown. It is in the way."

A few days later the lad's mother returned home to find her son's face bloody, but shining with triumph. He had borrowed pliers and had pulled the tooth.

"And at the first recital of the students of the class," Miss Stacks concluded, "he blew notes on the flute."

CROSSPATCH FIREWORKS AT ANNEX IN WILLOW.

The fireworks and evening dance at the Crosspatch Independence Day party will be held in the old red building near the Willow post office, known as Crosspatch Annex, instead of at Crosspatch House. It has a fine dancing floor and good music will be supplied.

The two New York ladies who will enter the voting contest for the prettiest girl will arrive on Saturday and spend the week end. Lancaster and Chichester have a candidate but so far no one has appeared for Willow or Lake Hill, although there is no dearth of pretty girls in that neighborhood.

Rip Van Winkle's wife threatens to follow him in the fantastic parade with washboard and rolling pin as weapons of discipline, but Commander Chandler has assigned two state troopers to keep order, so no harm will be done.

The fantastical or ragamuffin parade, as some call it, will start at 10:30 daylight saving time. All cars decorated with flags and bunting are invited to fall in.

Mrs. Cross has received a lot of false faces, flags, hunting horns and "crickets" from New York and these may be had on Monday afternoon at Crosspatch Annex, or on the morning of the Fourth.

The arrangements committee wants everybody to have a good, old freshments will be served, such as ice cream, soft drinks, cake, coffee and hot dogs, but families who are staying all day are asked to bring a picnic lunch.

In New England.
The Taconic range along the western border of Massachusetts is the link that connects the Catskills of New York with the higher peaks of northern New England, says the American Forestry Magazine. Greylock—the Saddleback of earlier days—3,685 feet, in the northwestern corner of the state, is the highest in the commonwealth, and Mount Everett, "The Dome of the Taconics," 2,624 feet, in the southwestern corner, the next highest. Both are state reservations.

FIRST RECITAL OF MISS MESSINGER

Burhans Piano Pupil and Contralto and Tenor Who Assist Receive Flowers and Praise.

A large audience gathered in the Sunday school room of the English Lutheran Church on Thursday evening to hear Miss Marion Messinger give her premiere pianoforte recital, assisted by Miss Mildred Messinger, contralto and Robert Hawksley, tenor.

Miss Messinger had prepared a most ambitious program especially as she has but recently passed the "sweet sixteen" years of living, and she was indeed a credit to her teacher, Miss Nettie Burhans, besides showing considerable talent and devoted study on her own part.

In welcoming the guests, Miss Burhans expressed Miss Messinger's and her own gratitude to the two vocalists who were to assist on the program. Then she announced that the opening number of the program, "From an Indian Lodge," by Mac Dowell, she had chosen for Miss Messinger with the thought in mind that its Indian call to the tribes to the foregather would be symbolic of the foregather of friends for the evening of music.

Miss Messinger played the Indian number admirably and followed it with Schumann's exceedingly elusive "Whims."

In the next three numbers that Miss Messinger played, she showed an excellent degree of technical ability, for all of the number, the Chopin Etude, Op. 25, No. 7, the Chopin Nocturne, Op. 18, No. 1 and the Liszt, "An Bord d'une Source," were very difficult and among the less well-known compositions of the two composers.

Miss Mildred Messinger is gaining in poise, in fullness and roundness of tone as she continues to appear before musical audiences, adding fresh laurels to her earlier successes. "I Am Thy Hair," by Woodman was well sung, but "Lute" by Curran was even better and it was with real musical satisfaction that one realized that Miss Messinger is carrying the full, contralto quality of her voice throughout its entire register, her high notes being as resonant as her low tones. She also has vision.

Her other two numbers were Greg's "The Way of the World," and Curran's "Dawn," which was charmingly sung.

Robert Hawksley received much applause for his singing of "Invictus" by Huhn; "Philosophy," "Arioso from Pagliacci," by Leoncavallo and "Such a Lil' Fellow."

Waiting up to her program, Miss Messinger played her last three numbers best. She showed much musicianship in her playing of the "Novelletten," Op. 21, No. 1, by Schumann, while her rendition of the Heller-Schubert "Die Forelle," Op. 32, was graceful and well phrased. Her last number was the always delightful "Capriccio," Op. 31, No. 3, by Mendelssohn, a brilliant, varied composition.

Both young ladies were the recipients of many beautiful bouquets of June roses and carnations.

TELEPHONE STOCK OVER-SUBSCRIBED

Over 70,000 telephone users in all parts of its territory applied for shares of the New York Telephone Company's $25,000,000 issue of 6 1/2 per cent cumulative preferred stock. It was announced today by A. L. Harder, local commercial manager, allotment for Kingston District is 1,422 shares and subscriptions tabulated so far amount to around 2,200 shares.

These applications were received between 9:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m., June 29, at which later hour it became necessary to decline further applications, the entire issue having been heavily over-subscribed. Applications for the stock were solicited by the company's employees and poured into the company's local commercial offices by the thousands from all parts of the company's territory, and apparently from investors in all walks of life. "The applications are being checked and allotment will be made and applicants notified as soon as possible," said Mr. Harder today. "No payment should be made until official notice of allotment is received from the company. We regret that we are unable to meet in full the demand for this stock. ## FINDS WOUNDS OF WAR ARE HEALED

Devastation of Chateau-Thierry Is Now Only Memory.

GREAT STRIDES IN TWO YEARS

Newspaper Writer Had to Seek Landmarks to Recognize Place She Hadn't Seen Since Before the Armistice—Ruined Houses Are Repaired and Farms Are Again Under Cultivation—Green Fields Greet the Eye Where Once Were Trenches.

Little trace is left of war's scars at Chateau-Thierry, says Laura A. Smith, writing in the Indianapolis Star of a recent visit to Chateau-Thierry and Belleau wood.

It is two years since I saw Chateau-Thierry, and I am overcome with admiration for the gigantic task of reconstruction that its people have accomplished. When I tried to compare this clean, pretty village with the Chateau-Thierry I saw before the armistice in 1918, I had to seek landmarks to recognize it.

Then there was row upon row of houses tumbled and masses of bricks and stone. Only a narrow path was between the piles of debris in the narrow streets. The waters of the Marne were still choked with the stones of the famous bridge blown up by our American troops to stay the Germans in their determination to take the road which led "Nacht Paris!"

All about the region were signs of terrific, ghastly fighting, of fields, woods, buildings turned into engines of defense. Ammunition, helmets, cases of unexploded shells and high piles of exploded ones, cases for oil and gasoline made uneven walls along the roads. Trenches, dugouts, shelters, barbed wire entanglements still held their own in No Man's Land. I recall saying: "It will take years and years to get this land back to normal."

Damage Is Repaired.

As we walked up from the station, I sought a house that had been destroyed, to show a physician who had joined us. I saw walls white with fresh cement, roofs all mended, trees along the streets pruned and wires stretched from tree to tree like the lines of a musical staff for the leaves to grow along in artistic effect. Gaping holes where once were houses were in the minority—even the house where our committee carried on in 1917-18, where I had the thrill of sleeping under an oiled paper roof, with the walls full of holes and one corner torn away. This house stood with new roof, shell holes in its sides filled in and looking as fresh as if it had never been under fire. Not so the house next door. Evidently the family had not returned, and it stood a ghastly pile.

But it was out in the open country between Chateau-Thierry and Belleau wood that amazement held me. Green fields planted with grain greeted us on all sides. Of trenches there remained not a hint.

"I would like to show my friends some trenches," said I to the little French soldier of this year's class, driving us.

"But there are none left about here," he said. "They have all been filled in and planted over."

Herds of cattle, fine-looking cattle, were in the fields, and we saw several sheds built to hold the grain. Farm buildings were still mostly down, but work was going on on the farm.

Perhaps it is the great number of American tourists visiting Chateau-Thierry who have made this wonderful rebound possible. It is much farther advanced in building and in reclaiming the soil than the regions about our four cantons of the Alsace, where our committee works. Outside our territory there are still years of hard work for the farmers: trenches, shell holes, dugouts—some of them cemented—and unexploded shells still remain.

Belleau Wood Still War Marked.

Belleau wood still lifts a head with blackened sticks of former trees, and the famous tower captured by Americans is gone. A great bowlder bears a marker of bronze to the valor of the Americans. But on the sunny slope down from Belleau wood lie hundreds of brave sons of America who paid the greatest of all sacrifices. Very peaceful, sad, inspiring are the rows of shining white crosses, protected by the Stars and Stripes which ripple—as only our own flag can ripple—in the breeze. Down to the left one sees the red roofs and white walls of the tiny village of Belleau being rebuilt. This, I believe, is to be the memorial for which the school children of America will gather the funds that the village of Belleau, which guards the American military cemetery of Belleau wood, may come into its own again. Moreover, there are to be accommodations for parents and relatives visiting the graves of their soldiers.

A sign on the white gate of the cemetery asks visitors not to remove the identification disks from the crosses and carry them off as "souvenirs." One can scarcely believe that such a sign is necessary, that any human being, let alone any American, would presume the resting-place of the dead. Yet they do, and alas, it is American tourists who do remove these disks bearing the name and company of the dead soldier, for the majority of foreigners always show the greatest respect to the dead.

Coloring Arc-Lamp Globes.
The purple color of arc-lamp globes is due to the use of manganese in the glass. The manganese is used to counteract the greenish color which comes from ferrous salts in the glass, but the action of light on the manganese only substitutes a purple coloration for a greenish hue.

American Shrub Appreciated.

One American shrub which has been received with great appreciation in England, and which grows well there is the gorgeous flame azalea, called by the botanists azalea canadense. This plant was sent to Europe many years ago, and perhaps is not grown so widely now as it has been in the past, owing to the great influx of rhododendron varieties.

Heart Trouble Not Fatal.

Heart disease is not the barrier to an active life of usefulness as has always been supposed, said Dr. Frederick Brush to the National Society for the Promotion of Occupational Therapy. Nothing is gained and much lost by telling cardiac patients not to work, not to carry, not to play, and so on. Under proper supervision the person with heart trouble can take a large part in active life.

Could Be Bought Off.

Alice was stying with her father one evening while her mother was away. The father, while reading, was wiggling the floor lamp and Alice spoke up: "You know mamma does not want you to play with that lamp." She waited a minute, then added: "If you will give me a nickel I won't tell her."

Beeswax Finish.

To try this method of covering the cracks in furniture soften beeswax until the consistency of putty, then press it into the cracks very firmly, smoothing the surface over with a thin knife. The surrounding wood should then be sandpapered with fine sandpaper, working some of the dust into the beeswax.

Greatest Man.

Leonardo da Vinci is considered by several competent judges to have the strongest claim to the title of the greatest man in history. He was the outstanding genius in the golden age of genius, the age of Shakespeare, Luther, Erasmus, Cervantes, Michael Angelo, Titian and Raphael.

Famous Monument Moves.

The Washington monument, solid as it is, cannot resist the heat of the sun poured on its southern side on a midsummer day without a slight bending of the gigantic shaft. This is perceptible by means of a copper wire, 174 feet long, hanging in the center of the structure, and carrying a plummet suspended in a vessel of water. At noon in summer the apex of the monument, 555 feet above the ground, is shifted by expansion of the stone a few hundredths of an inch toward the north. High winds cause perceptible motions of the plummet, and in still weather delicate vibrations of the crust of the earth, otherwise unperceived, are registered by it.

Before the Golden Age.

Archaeology has, in our day, become one of the most vividly interesting and thoroughly alive of pursuits, continually opening up new avenues of inquiry, and giving light and inspiration to the whole field of art. Archaeological discoveries of the last fifty years have shown that the golden age of Greek art was more than two thousand years in the making. It is strange enough to think that previously it was regarded as a spontaneous growth, with origins veiled in impenetrable mystery. Now, the adventurer into the great regions of knowledge, where the story of Greek civilization unfolds itself, may become possessed of at least the main facts of prehistoric epochs long before Greek art became Greek.—Scribner's Magazine.

Lightest of Liquids.

Many experiments here and abroad have shown that liquid hydrogen is by far the lightest of all known liquids. Its density is one-fourteenth that of water, and, curiously enough, this happens to be the same ratio of density that hydrogen in the gaseous state bears to air. For long the lightest liquid known was liquefied marsh gas, which possesses about two-fifths of the density of water.—Washington Star.

The general average prize of $5 in gold was won by Abraham Streifer of No. 40 Abrum street. The spelling prize for the same amount, $5, went to Helen Czarnecki of No. 53 Ulster street, whose average for the term was 100%. These young folks are to be congratulated for their efforts in the right direction. The prizes are given by Mrs. Seth Staples of No. 42 Grove street.

Holiday Hours at Post Office.

In accordance with instructions from the postmaster general to conserve the revenues of the Post Office Department, Postmaster De Witt announces that there will be no carriers' delivery on Independence Day, July 4th. This innovation was inaugurated on Memorial Day at the Kingston post office and about $90 were saved, besides giving the carriers a full holiday to which they are entitled. Those expecting important letters and daily papers are requested to call at the main post office where same will be delivered at windows up to 10 o'clock a. m. Patrons at the stations will receive their morning mail through the boxes, lobby of the stations remaining open during the day for their convenience.

Albany, June 29.—Secretary of State John J. Lyons will dedicate the new state troopers' barracks at Sidney next Tuesday afternoon, July 4.

Beware of Apologizing.

Apologizing—a very desperate habit—one that is rarely cured. Apologizing is only egotism wrong side out. Nine times out of ten, the first thing a man's companion knows of his shortcomings is from his apology.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Sneaking Shoes a Good Omen.

Theatrical people have many superstitions and they cling to the profession closely, one being if an actor's shoes squeak, ever so little, as he makes the first entrance, he is assured of a welcome from the audience.

The Magic Square.

The origin of the magic square is usually ascribed to the Chinese as the Yih King, an early classic, describes it. The magic square was known to the Hindus and to the Arabian astrologers.

K. H. S. ATHLETIC ASS'N REPORT

Treasurer Ruth Seigle Shows Balance After Singularly Successful Year in Giving Teams Best Equipment in Valley.

The annual report of the treasurer of the Kingston High School Athletic Association shows that that organization has had a very busy season. The organization has for its purpose the financing of all the athletic sports and guaranteeing of clean athletics. The association has been successful in both. The teams representing the local school are noted wherever they have played for their good sportsmanship. The treasurer's report speaks for itself concerning the financing of the various sports. By charging slight admissions to the games and by giving entertainments, the A. A. has managed to equip seven teams and send them to other cities to represent this school, and still have a balance in the treasury on which to start next year. This year the Varsity and second football teams were fully equipped with new material, the Boys' Varsity basketball team was fitted with new uniforms, many new supplies were brought for the baseball team, the track and tennis teams were supplied with necessary equipment. The teams have had equipment as good in all cases and better in most cases than any other team in the Hudson valley. It is not to be supposed that any of these teams have been failing propositions merely because their expenses have been greater than their receipts, for the cost of equipment counted against them is not very great when one takes into consideration the fact that the supplies bought this year will diminish the expenses for next year. The report for the year September 1, 1921 to June, 1922 is as follows:

Dues	Expenses	Receipts	Loss	Gain
Midget Basketball	113.19	445.75	53.89	445.75

Saffron Once Royal Color.

In Ireland saffron early became a royal color and, for a long period of each exclusiveness was taken away in Erin, the yellow saffron-dyed shirt remained a mark of social distinction in the Hebrides. In art saffron was much employed in medieval illuminated manuscripts. In combination with tin foil as a substitute for gold, and, of course, at all periods the color of many textiles was done with little crocus stigmas.

Redwoods in Italy.

California redwoods are commonly found planted in every section of Italy, and they seem to develop speedily under the conditions of the Italian climate, says the American Forestry Magazine. In Bologna recently a redwood tree over four feet in diameter was cut, which had been planted only about 60 years ago. Sections of this tree are now exhibited in the Museum of the Royal Forestry college at Florence.

NEEDS OF "YOUNG AMERICA"

European Critic Thinks That Youth of Great Republic Suffers From Too Much Freedom.

George Santayana, famous philosopher and writer, in an article written especially in the Forum on "America's Young Radicals," says:

"I have made a severe effort to discover as well as I may from a distance what these rebels want. I see what they are against—they are against everything—but what are they for? I have not been able to discover it. This may be due to my lack of understanding or to their incapacity to express themselves clearly, for their style is something appalling. But perhaps this scandalous failure in expression, when expression is what they yearn for and demand at all costs, may be a symptom of something deeper; of a radical mistake they have made in the direction of their efforts and aspirations. They think they need more freedom, more room, a chance to be more spontaneous. I suspect that they have had too much freedom, too much empty space, too much practice in being spontaneous when there was nothing in them to bubble out. Their style is a sign of this; it is not merely that they have no mastery of the English language as hitherto spoken, no clear sense of the value of words, and no simplicity; that they are without the vocabulary or the idiom of cultivated people. . . . No, it is not more freedom that young America needs in order to be happy; it needs more discipline."

Free Translation.

"Bananathy," said puzzled Farmer Jobbins, reading over a letter from the city. "What d'ye suppose Nephew Robert's stylish wife means by puttin' at the end of this note asking us to come to their anniversary dinner. 'R. & V. P.'? 'I guess, Samuel,' replied Mrs. Jobbins, after a prolonged study of the cryptic letters, 'since it's an invitation to dinner, then let's let it be a hint. They mean 'Right Smart Vinties Prepared!'—Baltimore American."
